

I attempted using a excitatory synapse, and an inhibitory synapse as the shifted synapse. This is the best behavior I could get.  $w = 1.3$  is the lowest the weights could be to get any firing. Below this example are my implementations of the examples you showed us.

